
CVM Solutions Names Dan Powers to Lead Eastern Region

New Regional Vice President Position Created to Meet Strong Demand for CVM Supplier Management Solutions

Chicago, March 10, 2010 – CVM Solutions, a premier provider of supplier management solutions, today announced that it has hired Dan Powers as the company’s regional vice president for the East Region. Powers will be based out of New Jersey in a new office to be launched by CVM. This hire marks the latest expansion of CVM’s sales force as the company continues its march as one of the fastest growing supplier management companies.

CVM’s sales team expansion is a response to an increasing demand in supplier management and supplier diversity solutions. Globalization, risk, compliance, and economic uncertainty have driven supply chain strategies and decisions from the back room to the boardroom, which in turn has raised the profile of solutions and services that CVM offers. Indeed, CVM’s unique viewpoint on supplier management, vast supplier intelligence, deep experience and customer-focused results is helping customers gain competitive advantage in this business environment.

“We are very excited to welcome Dan Powers, who comes to us with a strong background of more than 20 years in enterprise sales,” said Greg Silich, CEO of CVM Solutions. “Dan joins CVM’s team with tremendous market knowledge and proven success, and is a well-established member of the supply chain industry. He’s joining the company at a time when we’ve never been more energized, focused, and excited about what we can achieve in the coming years, and we’re glad he’s on board as a key member of the team.”

Prior to joining CVM Solutions, Powers served in the role of vice president of sales for the East at TeaLeaf Technology and MarketLive Inc. From 1999 to 2007, he was a regional vice president of sales at Ariba. Earlier in his career, Powers held a variety of sales positions at ChannelPoint, Lawson Software, Software Plus and ADP. Powers earned a BS from the La Salle University School of Business Administration.
